Our City Comment & Discussion

by THOMAS D. WATSON

Glendale's Community Players Make Good with Audience

GLENDALE'S Community Players have by their fine work demonstrated the fact that they are an asset to the city and have also proved the need for a community playhouse where good clean plays and wholesome comedies might be produced by the local talent, at a cost sufficient to cover the production expenses and yet low enough to give all an opportunity of attending. That the people appreciate the players was indicated at last night's performance.

The establishment of a community playhouse might well be included with that of a civic center for Glendale, the need for which is becoming more apparent every day. Although organized only since the latter part of September, the Glendale Community Players' organization, which now numbers sixty members, has been doing some splendid work and gives an outlet for the expression of local residents who feel they have dramatic ability.

It is not the idea of the Community Players to give any of their plays for the purpose of making money, yet it is necessary to secure funds for financing the production costs. Under the ruling of the school board it is not possible to use the school auditoriums for entertainments for which admission is charged, other than for school affairs.

Further, the Glendale Community Players' organization is not financed by endowments or subscriptions and consequently must raise sufficient money at each of its performances to cover the cost of costumes and other necessary expenses. Under the existing conditions it is practically impossible for the people at large to have the opportunity of witnessing the work of these players, who with their capable director, are giving as much of their time and talent, unless their plays are sponsored by some of the Glendale clubs.

With the establishment of a community playhouse it would be possible to put on the plays, say for a week at a time, thereby giving a larger number of people an opportunity to witness them, and it would also provide wholesome amusement at home.

TUESDAY CLUB APPEALS FOR EAST RELIEF

All Members Asked to Collect Old Clothing for Shipment

The following appeal is being made to members of the Tuesday Afternoon Club by the president and chairman of philanthropy:

"The annual 'Bundle Day' of Near East Relief, falls on Tuesday, May 8, and the exceedingly great need for clothing and footwear makes necessary the pressing of this appeal upon every club member.

"Women and children are dying daily from the effects of exposure, having been driven forth from their ancestral homes by the barbarous Turk and forced to live for months under the deteriorating misery and distress of refugee conditions. These need no material garments. But the hundreds of thousands who remain must be clothed or they too will perish.

"The Glendale Board of Education has designated the schools as bundle stations.

"Will you please send your bundles to the nearest school on Tuesday, May 8? For the sake of suffering defenseless childhood and womanhood give this appeal the full support of your leadership.

"MRS. DANIEL CAMPBELL, President.

"MRS. WILLIAM HUNTER, Philanthropy Chairman."

C. F. STEPLER

PARTY GET THE LIMIT OF FISH

Mr. C. F. Stepler and party of 404 Ivy street were among the successful ones who went trout fishing Monday. Each one of the party returned with the limit.

Master William Stepler—ten year old son of Mr. Stepler—went the limit by successfully landing—without any aid from his eld— a fine steelhead trout measuring fourteen inches. Master Stepler is keeping his fish in a secret for it is his intention to go back after the larger one who got away.

DANGEROUS CORNERS TO BE ROUNDED

Council Considers Warning From Charles B. Guthrie

TO AVOID ACCIDENTS

Peter Ferry Volunteers to Remove Mules From Old Corral

The Glendale city council decided at its meeting Thursday night to take immediate steps looking to the rounding of the corners of all the well-traveled roads, streets and highways of this city. This decision was reached as a result of a talk on the subject made by Charles B. Guthrie.

"It is high time, I believe," said Mr. Guthrie, "that something be given in the way of making our highways safe. The corner of Kenneth and Pacific and that of Kenneth and Grand View are death traps. There are dozens of other intersections at which the corners of the lots should be rounded. They are extremely dangerous and I believe that something should be done before there is an accident. No one waiting until the fatality happens."

Engineer Dupuy and City Manager Reeves were instructed to make a survey of the intersections of the city to see which corners should be rounded.

O. A. Lane, who is erecting a business building on South Brand boulevard, appeared before the council with the request that he be given full numbers for each of his stores, rather than half numbers or the letters. The city engineer was instructed to look into this matter.

Map of tract No. 6243 and also one of the Sparr Heights tract were approved.

A request that the city accept the bid of no paving company for the work to be done on Glendale avenue that would not guarantee its work without an additional amount being added to the cost was made by Charles E. Stanley, then Mayor.

Robinson stated that the council would look well into this matter before letting the contract.

To a request of Mrs. Alice Burns, as to when the east side of Verdugo road in the northeastern part of the city could be given an adequate water supply, Mayor Robinson stated that the council is expecting to have the Verdugo Canyon water matter cleared up this week and that if this is accomplished the water situation in that section will soon be cleared up.

Three ordinances regulating the keeping of horses, mules and other animals in Glendale were introduced by Councilman Davis. This action came in response to the request of the property owners on East Acacia avenue, that Peter Ferry, road contractor, be compensated for the water situation in that section.

Meeting of Chamber of Commerce Proves Enthusiastic

L. T. Rowley represented Glendale Wednesday evening at a meeting of the Third Supervisorial district of chambers of commerce held in the Masonic temple at Hollywood.

At that meeting progress on the movement to extend Santa Monica boulevard to Glendale was reported by Mr. Barnes, secretary of the Santa Monica boulevard board of trade.

Of the attitude of the meeting, Mr. Rowley reports: "The project, together with the bridge and viaduct across the river at Glendale boulevard was unanimously endorsed and this action, following its endorsement by the San Fernando Valley Federation of Chambers of Commerce, places it on a very strong footing.

"It seems important at this time that Glendale should keep in close touch with all movements of this kind as a possible rival road which would not touch Glendale at all might be put through and carry the bulk of the traffic along some other line."

Mr. Rowley states that at the meeting referred to, the point was brought out that the new road through the hill had its origin in the pipe dream of a reporter whose stock of news had run low and who tried to visualize how this section could be brought nearer to the business section of Los Angeles and the beaches as well, little dreaming that the seed thus cast into the hot air of a newspaper article would prove so fertile.

HOTEL IS TO BE STARTED IN ONE MONTH

Glendale Advancement Ass'n. Plans to Advertise the Site

At the meeting of the Glendale Advancement Association held Tuesday noon, about the only action taken beyond the receipt of reports of committees, was a unanimous vote in favor of a motion made by H. L. Finlay that the association erect a large billboard at the corner of Glendale and Broadway similar to the one placed by the Security National Bank at Brand and Broadway which would bear the words: "This is a picture of the new hotel to be built upon this site" and beneath this legend have a painted representation of the hotel. The proposition was endorsed by Dr. Russell, and architect Arthur Lindley agreed to help. The responsibility for carrying out the motion was delegated to the hotel building committee.

Architect Lindley said the work of his draughtsmen would be sufficiently advanced to call for bids for a portion of the work in about two weeks, and within a month actual work should be in progress.

Speaking for the Broadway light committee Mr. Kinca stated while it was not preparation to ask for action by the association until it had extended its investigations into relative cost and other matters, at the present time his committee was disposed to recommend to the city council the continuation of the present 5-light standards on East Broadway, believing that any attempt to replace them with other standards would entail a serious burden and loss on abutting property.

Herman Nelson reported a conference he had held with Messrs. Jarton, Haresnappe and Hatch relative to the Glendale avenue extension of the Glendale-Montrose line which he said was being delayed only by the franchise needed from Los Angeles city council. He said they were confident, now that the city election is over, that the council will push the matter through as the Glendale council has already done.

Responding to call for a report from the Glendale avenue paving committee, Mr. McElsh stated he had presented to City Clerk Van Wile to be placed before the council, a copy of the recommendation of his committee as endorsed by the association for the paving of Glendale avenue with asphaltic concrete with bids open to all contractors subject to a guarantee; that the last he saw of the recommendation was that it was buried in Mr. Van Wile's papers and no action was taken. President Ingelue said he understood the matter would be taken up by the council that evening.

Concerning an outlet for Genevieve Glendale avenue, Mr. Ingelue stated a map had been prepared by Mr. Dupuy of the engineering department, showing the cost of $10,000 to $12,000 to be borne by an assessment district which would include about 200 lots. Some discussion followed in which the general opinion was expressed that the benefits would far outweigh the cost.

About thirty members and guests were present.

NOTED MEN AND WOMEN TO MEET IN ASSEMBLY OF CONGREGATIONALISTS

Thirty-seventh Annual Conference to Be Held Here Beginning May 7 at Great New Church Will Be Well Attended

PRESIDENT OF MILLS COLLEGE IS COMING

Professor Fagley of New York to Attend the Great Gathering With Special Message to the Church in the West; Others to Speak

All church workers of Glendale are interested in the Thirty-seventh Annual Congregational Conference of Southern California, which is to be held in Glendale May 7, 8 and 9, at the First Congregational church, because it will bring to this city men of note in evangelistic and mission work.

Speakers at the opening session Monday afternoon will be Amelia H. Reinhardt, president of Mills College of California, and Rev. Frederick L. Fagley of New York city. The one will speak on "Christ in the Life of the Women of Today," the other on "Christ in the Life of the Men of Today."

The pastor of the hostess church, Rev. Charles M. Calderwood will preside at the 5 o'clock vesper service on Monday. Amelia Reinhardt will also give an address at the regular evening session on "Christ in the Education of Today." This will follow the addresses of welcome by Mayor Spencer Robinson and H. W. Yarik, chairman of the board of trustees of the Glendale church and the response by the moderator of the conference, Rev. Carl S. Patton.

Tuesday morning will be largely given to reports of officers and committees and Tuesday afternoon to a conference session on the work of the denomination, its problems, etc.

For Tuesday evening will be provided a recital by A. E. Angier, the organist of the conference, followed by two addresses one on "Christ in Industry" by Rev. Frederick L. Fagley, the other on "Christ in International Relations," by Rev. Oswald W. S. McCall of Berkeley.

Wednesday morning's addresses will be: "Christ in Theology and Philosophy of Today," by Prof. Ralph T. Flewelling of Los Angeles, and "Christ in the Church," by Rev. Oswald W. S. McCall, the balance of that session being given to the completion of unfinished business. The membership of the conference consists of all ministers in good and regular standing in any local association of Congregational churches in Southern California, together with two delegates from each of the churches belonging to such local association.

Mrs. H. W. Yarik of 347 West Wilson avenue heads the committee appointed to secure lodging places for delegates and meals will be served in the church Monday.

FEDERATION NIGHT TO BE MARKED BY MUSIC CLUB

Dinner Dance Proves Delightful Affair in the Evening

The annual federation night program will be given tonight under the auspices of the Glendale Music Club by the seven federated musical organizations of Glendale at the high school auditorium at 8:15 o'clock. This program will be open to the public free of charge and club members may bring as many guests as they wish.

A very interesting program has been arranged and will include numbers by the high school orchestra; piano solos by Betty Hagood and Marguerite Chappell of the Juvenile Music Club; vocal solos by Miss Elizabeth Mottern and violin solos by Miss Hazel Linkosel, both members of the Junior Music Club; numbers by the high school girls' glee club; vocal numbers by the Nevil Quartet; solo and duet numbers by Mme. Wisniewska and Ella A. Faggioli, and also by Mrs. Helen Cole and the Madrigal Club.

Richardson D. White, who was chairman in charge of the play program which was given in the form of various games and contests suggestive of an automobile party at the meeting last week, presented the prizes yesterday to the winning team, of which V. M. Hollister was captain. The prizes consisted of tiny automobiles made of chewing gum, which were each contained in a small box. A large part of the entertainment at yesterday's meeting was furnished by members who told of their experiences on fishing trips during the opening day of the trout season.

Mr. Karr gave a talk in which he outlined his plans for carrying on the work of the Glendale Rotary Club for the year.

A charge of illegally transporting liquor and another of having liquor in his possession, have been filed against Frank Fiske, 200 East Avenue 43, Los Angeles, who was arrested at 3 o'clock this morning by Glendale police officers, according to police records.

The case will be heard before Judge Lowe today.

MRS. H. V. HENRY ADDRESSES COLO. SCHOOL P. T. A.

Reports Received From District Conference and Election Follows

Mrs. H. V. Henry was the speaker at the regular meeting of the Colorado Parent-Teacher association held at the school yesterday afternoon with Mrs. E. S. McKee in charge. The meeting opened with salute to the flag and singing of "America." At the business session it was voted to send $5 to the Orthopedic hospital and also to take out a $5 membership in the Children's hospital.

The reports of the district conference held recently in Los Angeles were given by Mesdames Scharnikow, Reed and Lewis. Mrs. Henry's talk was on the subject of "Child Welfare." The musical program was given by the high school quartet, composed of Gertrude Heideman, Winifred Parker, Mr. Charles Whitfield and Mr. Carver, and included "A Lullaby" and "I Love You Truly" (Bond).

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Mrs. Gillan, president; Mrs. John Camphouse, vice president; Mrs. Moore, recording secretary; Miss June Hammill, treasurer; Miss Bessie Ross, auditor.

It was announced that the father's auxiliary of the Colorado P. T. A. would put on a $2 program free of charge at a meeting on May 18 to be held at the high school. Harry Girard and his committee will have charge of the program, after which an old-fashioned southern supper will be served to the members of the auxiliary and P. T. A.

G. A. R. INVITES CITY TO MARK MEMORIAL DAY

Formal Invitation Is Accepted by the Councilmen

An invitation to attend the Decoration Day services that will be held under the auspices of the G. A. R. of Glendale was received and accepted by the Glendale city council Thursday night. The letter of invitation was signed by Rev. C. R. Norton and R. D. White, and read as follows:

"You are cordially invited to cooperate in the celebration of Decoration Day on May 30, 1923.

"The program as outlined so far consists of a parade in the afternoon and the decoration of the soldiers graves at Forest Lawn cemetery, and exercises at that point.

"It is the desire of the G. A. R., the Women's Relief Corps and the other organizations sponsoring the program of the day, that as great a number of organizations as possible participate.

"The meeting to make final arrangements for the day will be held at the Wilson Avenue school house on Thursday evening, May 10, at 7:30 o'clock. Your communication is urged to send a representative to this meeting."

Glendale Exchange Club members and their ladies and guests, numbering in all about 100, enjoyed a very delightful dinner-dance given last night in the ballroom of the Tuesday Afternoon Club.

There were about fifty members from the Los Angeles Exchange Club present and they contributed several numbers to the program of entertainment.

Kelly's Shrine Club orchestra provided music for dancing. The musical program given by local artists included two vocal numbers by Mrs. Bernice Center, "Love's Sorrow" (Shelly), and another selection, and also vocal numbers by Wilbur Herwick, "Adieu Marie" (Adams) and "Lassie of Mine" (Walt). Mrs. Curran accompanied at the piano. The program was in charge of Dr. W. Z. Newton. The dinner was served by the non-section members of the club under the direction of Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, with the assistance of Mrs. Lillian Dow and the members of her committee.

LOVING TO DIRECT STREET TRAFFIC

Capt. Loving of the Glendale police department, who for the past two years has been drill inspector and inspector of pistol practice of the police force, has just been given the added duty of traffic supervisor. He will hereafter solve the traffic problems in this city.

THE WEATHER

Hey! Page the Man With the Lost Black Fox Fur Who Phoned

"Call again."

This is the word that A. B. Coon, 220 North Orange street, has to offer to the man who called his neighbor and simply said: "I found that fur you lost." Then he hung up. Here's the "low-down": Mr. Coon lost the fur. He advertised for it and as he was going to leave town he placed his neighbor's telephone number in the ad. The man who found the fur, therefore, called the neighbor. By the time the finder called, Mr. Coon had returned home. When the "neighbor" told the finder to hold the wire until he called the owner, the finder, doubtless thinking that the "owner" was not really the rightful owner but simply the alleged owner, he, the finder, thought he "smelled a rat." He doubtless decided at once that it was a question of the alleged owner, having seen that the owner had lost the fur, was trying to get the fur from the finder without being his rightful owner.

The owner, however, wishes the finder to know that he is really the rightful owner and that the neighbor was not trying to secure the fur for the owner through false representation from the finder. Will the finder kindly call again, says the owner—the "rightful owner"—and a description of the fur will be gladly furnished? The number of the owner's telephone is Glendale 220-W.

HERBERT COLLINS INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Crashes Into S. P. Gate in Returning From Los Angeles

After speeding from Los Angeles to Glendale and crashing through the gates of the Southern Pacific tracks on South Brand boulevard, Herbert L. Collins of 317 East Wilson was taken into custody by Officer LaRook at 1:15 o'clock this morning. A portion of the gate shattered the windshield of the car with the result that Collins was badly cut and bruised. He was hurried to the office of Dr. David A. Baker, where his injuries were attended to. He was later placed in station No. 1, where he remained the rest of the night. Dr. Baker declared Collins to be intoxicated according to police records, and a charge of reckless driving was placed against him.

When the machine crashed through the gates, J. Reed, of 1559 East 53rd street, Los Angeles, who is night operator at the tower at that intersection, was knocked down and slightly injured. He was, however, able to finish out his shift.

Early in Collins' dash from Los Angeles, the speeding car was sighted by Postmaster Ripley D. Jackson, who is a government officer, and the singing postmaster gave chase. He caught Collins, according to the report, and called to him to stop. Collins, who probably thought some one was trying to hold him up, simply stepped on the gas harder than ever. Jackson clung like a leech, the race continuing until the S. P. gates were reached, where Jackson stopped, while the fleeing Collins crashed straight through.

Collins will appear before Judge Lowe today for arraignment.

DRUNKEN JOY RIDERS WIN BIG FINES

Party of Five Pay the City Well for Stopping Career

As a sequel to the drunken joy ride which occurred Wednesday night and in which five men and women from Los Angeles, Pasadena and San Fernando figured, Judge Lowe dealt out five fines, Thursday.

Mrs. Chapman, who gave her name to the police as Isabel Morgan, was fined $200 for driving while intoxicated; D. W. Corning was fined $20 for intoxication, for which offense Mrs. Corning was fined $15; J. L. Winters was fined $20 and Mrs. Cape forfeited a bail of $15.

All of these fines were paid with the exception of the fine of Mrs. Chapman, who will have to produce the money before 4 o'clock this afternoon or go to jail for 100 days.

EAST FEELS OUAKE

WASHINGTON, May 4.—The Georgetown university seismograph today recorded an earth tremor which began at 11:36 a. m. and continued for about two hours, reaching its greatest intensity between 11:56 a. m. and 12:04 p. m.

GLENDALE GIRLS SHOW THEIR SKILL

Board of Education Dined by Domestic Science Class

BUSINESS MEETING

Plans for Intermediate Addition Submitted by Alfred Priest

Members of the board of education and their ladies were entertained by the senior classes in domestic science of the Glendale Avenue and Wilson Avenue intermediate schools with a wonderful dinner of seven courses which was served Thursday evening at Glendale Avenue school under the supervision of Miss Lulu M. Woodridge, instructor in domestic science in the city schools, and Mrs. Baker, instructor in home economics at Wilson Avenue.

For the decoration of the banquet room a lattice work had been provided which was twined with greenery and roses and similar flowers graced the table, making a beautiful setting for a delicious meal.

Not only did the girls prepare the dinner, but they also served it most efficiently and won the respect of all the guests for their proficiency.

Following was the menu: Fruit cocktail, consommé, steamed fish with tartar sauce, olives, celery, etc., roast turkey, mashed potatoes, green peas, rolls and butter, cranberry sauce and lemon pie; combination salad and cheese wafers; marshmallow dessert with whipped cream; after-dinner coffee and mints.

Covers were laid for David Hibben, president of the board, and Mrs. Hibben; Miss Carrie Noble, principal of the Wilson Avenue school; Norman Whytock, principal of the Glendale Avenue school; Dr. and Mrs. P. O. Lucas, Mrs. A. A. Barton, Business Manager David Black and Mrs. Black, Miss Lulu M. Woodridge, supervisor of domestic science; Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Learned, Superintendent Richardson D. White, and Miss Murray Longley, clerk of the board.

About 9 o'clock, following the dinner, the board met for an executive session that lasted until after midnight. Most of the time was consumed in discussion of the various lots and other pieces of land under consideration for purchase by the board to round out several of the school campuses, but no action was taken.

Two members of the Pacific Avenue school board, Mrs. H. Roseberg and Mrs. L. E. Hill, appeared before the board to urge that its building program at that school include some provision for a cafeteria, and if possible for an auditorium which would make a suitable meeting place for the association. The board assured the ladies they would take the matter under consideration and see what, if anything, could be done.

As a portion of the Cerritos Avenue campus was acquired under land conveyances which were made conditional upon the use of the property for school purposes, Business Manager Black was instructed to have an investigation of the district's title to the Richardson and other grants made before any building is begun on those grounds.

Completed plans for the Grand View and Acacia Avenue additions were submitted by Architect Geo. Lindsay and accepted by the board with minor changes.

Architect Alfred Priest submitted completed plans for the Glendale Avenue intermediate addition, which were held over for additional consideration next Tuesday evening, as were also his preliminary plans for Columbus Avenue, Pacific Avenue and Doran Street school buildings.

The board gave formal approval of the "Bundle Day Drive" in city schools next Tuesday to secure clothing for near east relief. It also delegated to Mr. White responsibility for advertising for bids on school buildings.

After some discussion of the exterior of Central Avenue school buildings, the board voted in favor of "blue" brick for the new building there.

A request from the Glendale Avenue school for permission to hold its graduation exercises Friday, June 22, instead of the evening previous as first planned, was referred to Superintendent White for adjustment.

H. Edward Bremer and Walter Hanson were named as directors of the four playgrounds which the board will maintain during the summer.

HARDING PLANS FOR RETURN TO EAST

WASHINGTON, May 4.—President Harding has under consideration among other plans for his western trip a proposal advanced by Secretary Denby for his return from Alaska on a naval vessel by way of the Panama Canal and Porto Rico.

PADDOCK INCURS A. A. U. ANGER BY SPRINT

Fastest Man in the World
Is Suspended for Paris Race

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, May 4.—Getting back to its habit of using petty little "ward politics," the Amateur Athletic Union has "set down" Charley Paddock for competing yesterday in the trial events of the University of Paris games.

A. A. U. suspensions are put through with an informal wave of the hand, and legal grounds are not considered necessary. In this case it is understood that Paddock was punished for competing in an unsanctioned meet. Under these conditions the suspension means nothing, as he will have to be reinstated if he ever decides to apply for a lifting of the suspension.

It is doubtful if the sprint champion will care to flatter the A. A. U. by recognizing that he is suspended. He is ready to retire and under the conditions that prevailed in this case, it would be no blot on his record to retire under an A. A. U. suspension.

Paddock has assumed the role of a test case that has been brewing for some time to get a show down on the right of the A. A. U. to govern amateur athletics in the United States.

The showdown has been called for now, with the announcement of the National Collegiate Athletic Association that Paddock had their permission to compete in Paris and that he is guilty of no offense, because the A. A. U. has no jurisdiction over him as a college athlete.

Up until 1920, when the A. A. U. grossly mismanaged and mishandled the trip of the American team to the Antwerp Olympic, the A. A. U. was allowed to usurp the role of a national dictator merely by suzerainty. Since that a movement has been growing to limit the power of the A. A. U. and it is now ripe for the showdown.

The National Collegiate Association, a different body from the Inter-collegiate Association, launched the campaign against the A. A. U. and recruited powerful support. Instead of trying to limit the organization at least half way, the A. A. U. resorted to ward politics and sought in every way to discredit the men and the motives behind their opposition.

When the showdown comes and the National Association is called upon to show reasons why the regime of the A. A. U. has not been all that it should be, some interesting developments may be expected.

As far as Paddock is concerned he seems to have a fine case to justify his action. To put it bluntly it is none of the A. A. U.'s business what a college athlete does, or such. It was just as ridiculous to say that Paddock could not compete in Paris as it would have been to declare that the Oxford University team had no right to run in the Pennsylvania Relays last week. No notice has been given that the British suspended the Oxford team for competing here, and the cases are exactly identical.

The A. A. U. knows that Paddock went to Paris for the added purpose of collecting material for a series of lectures, and that was one of the reasons they didn't want him to go.

In deciding that no Americans could compete in Europe this summer, the A. A. U. was also the victim of French politics. The French athletic officials objected to the appearance of any Americans in Europe this summer on the grounds that it would take the edge off their Paris Olympics and the A. A. U. fell for it although it incurred the enmity of Norway, Sweden and Finland—rather formidable opposition.

TUESDAY CLUB CARNIVAL TO OPEN MAY 5

Non-Section Members to Stage Unique Event
for Fund

Maytime will be celebrated tomorrow at the Tuesday Afternoon Clubhouse when the non-section members will put on a Carnival of Months. Artistic booths are being arranged throughout the clubhouse to represent the twelve months of the year. At the Scotch program, which is to be given in the auditorium at 8:15 p. m. there will be a group of masked Yama Yama girls who will act as ushers.

The taking of daguerreotype pictures will be a feature of the carnival, which will begin at 10 o'clock in the morning and continue throughout the day and evening. The members in charge of the various concessions will be costumed in keeping with the decorations of their booths. In addition to good things to eat, and fancy articles there will be a quantity of serpentine and many novelties on sale.

BUNDLE DAY TO BE CELEBRATED IN SCHOOLS

Boy Scouts to Call for Gifts to Be Sent to Near East Relief

Bundle day for the Near East Relief will be observed in Glendale next Tuesday and will be handled entirely through the schools. Rex C. Kelley, local Y. M. C. A. secretary, will be chairman in charge and will be assisted by Richardson D. White of the grammar schools and George U. Moyse of the high school. The Near East Relief, has sent out 15,000 cards to be tied on the bundles and the Y. M. C. A. is distributing these cards today to the various schools, where they will be distributed among the pupils.

The bundles of clothing of all kinds are to be brought to the schools on Tuesday. Members of the Boy Scouts and Y. M. C. A. will call for bundles where there are no school children in the homes. The B-Y boys will look after the bundles at the high school.

PURELY PERSONAL

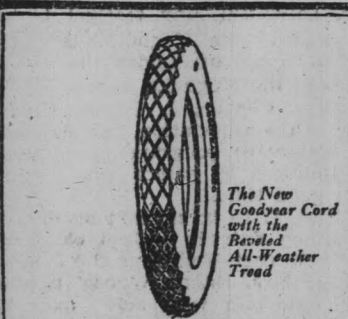

Mrs. Herman Nelson, who has been confined to her bed for several weeks following mastoid operation, is better but not yet able to leave her room.

Mrs. Alma Danford, city librarian, who suffered a severe attack of influenza two or three weeks ago visited the library Wednesday but is not yet well enough to resume her work.

Mrs. H. S. McCormack is the honored guest of Mrs. Harriett Works, at luncheon Thursday at the Wilshire Country club.

The next regular meeting of the Juvenile Auxiliary of the Glendale Music Club will be held Saturday afternoon, May 5, at the home of Mrs. Rockhold, 353 Barchett street, at 2 o'clock. Visitors will be welcome.

Members of the Atwater parent teacher association are very much pleased over the results of the May festival held at the school on Tuesday of this week, at which about $300 was cleared. This will be used to purchase various articles for the new school. There was a May day program and articles of all kinds were on sale at the various booths which had been arranged for the occasion.

ANDERSEN FETE MAY 5 AT L. A. MUSEUM

Unusually Fine Program
Offered by Southwest
Museum

Children of Glendale, Los Angeles and vicinity are planning to attend the Andersen festival to be given at Elysian park on Saturday, May 5. The Southwest Museum is co-operating with the city of Los Angeles and Los Angeles public library by asking the children usually attending the "Children's Hour" at this time, to attend the festival.

An unusual program of interest and educational value has been provided for the public for Sunday afternoon, May 6, at the Southwest Museum, when Frederick H. Maude, M. B., C. M., B. S., will speak on the "Havapai Indians," illustrating his talk with lantern slides and Indian basketry. Following his talk there will be an informal talk on "The Power of Story Telling" by Ethel Dunn, B. A., M. A., University of California.

The Spanish-Colonial exhibit is the special attraction at the Museum at this time and will be shown until May 14.

An interesting Spanish evening program has been arranged for Wednesday, May 9, at 8 o'clock. There will be music in charge of Mrs. Cecile Norton Winchester, soprano; a lecture on "Spanish Art and Customs," by Florence Dodson Schoenman; Spanish dances, Dolores Palethorpe, accompanied by Prof. Lewis A. Kerwin.

For Sunday afternoon, May 13, in addition to the musical program there will be a "Travel Talk on Spain," by Agnes Elizabeth Burchard. On "Members' Night," Thursday, May 24, the Southwest Museum will present Dr. Robert G. Cleland, who will lecture on "International Aspects of California History," illustrated.

The annual wild flower show will be held May 7, 8 and 9. Anyone wishing to contribute rare wild flowers to the show should have the specimens at the museum by Monday morning, May 7. The public is invited to visit the wild flower show and the museum will be open in the evening for the benefit of those who cannot attend during the day.

The remaining programs for Sunday in May, in addition to those above enumerated, will include: May 20, program by Evelyn Bruner, soprano, and lecture on "Art in Education and in Life," by Frederick J. Schwankovsky, Jr., head of art department, Manual Arts high school. May 27, music by Clara E. Inghram, pianist; lecture, "Radiation and Its Uses," illustrated, by Dr. Rex Duncan, Oncologic Institute.

GRIDLEY CHAPTER THURSDAY FOLKS EXPRESSES SORROW TO HOLD FETE ON MAY 18

Adopt Resolutions Upon
Passing of Mrs. John
Hyde Braly

Bazaar to Be Held at Cer-
ritos Avenue School,
It Is Decided

At the regular meeting of the General Richard Gridley Chapter, D. A. R., held Wednesday afternoon, the following resolution expressing sorrow over the death of its regent, Mary Howard Gridley Braly, with instructions that copies thereof be sent to John Hyde Braly
and to Mrs. Kirk, daughter of Mrs.
Braly, was adopted:

"Whereas, in the death of
Mrs. Mary Howard Gridley
Braly on April 26, 1923, Regent of the General Richard Gridley Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution of Glendale, California, the chapter has lost from its membership a noble soul whose ideals of patriotism and service have left an indelible impression upon our chapter.
"Therefore, Resolved, that we, the members of the General Richard Gridley Chapter, assembled in meeting on this,
the 2nd day of May, 1923,
record our sorrow in the death of her who loved our society and ever sought its welfare with all the power of her true and forceful spirit, and that the name of Mary Howard Gridley Braly shall be forever remembered among those whom we rejoice to have known and loved.

"Resolved: That copies of these resolutions be sent to Mrs. Braly's husband and daughter with expressions of our profound sympathy and a copy be spread on our minutes and placed in our history as a token of our deep sense of loss in the death of one whom we ever held in high honor and whose memory will be forever cherished amongst us.

"MISS IDA D. MYERS,
"MRS. LIZZIE S. HAYWARD,
"Chairman Resolutions.
"ANNIE S. CRAWFORD,
"Secretary."

CHAPTER C J HAS MOTHER'S DAY

Chapter C J of the P. E. O., had a "Mothers' Day" meeting Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Fannie Crampden, 325 West Burchett street, the assisting hostesses being Mrs. Isabelle Kimball, Mrs.
Harriet Hamilton and Mrs. Vera Hinchcliff.
At 10:30 a business session was held and at 12:30 the luncheon was held at which each member entertained an elderly mother as a guest.
This was followed by the program of the day to which Albert Bryant contributed several songs, and Mrs.
M. Straith-Miller two songs. Piano numbers were given by Miss Jeanette Herrick and a fine paper on Indian myths by Mrs. Lizzie Hayward.

There were readings by Mrs.
Crampton, the origin of "Mothers' Day," by Mrs. Hinchcliff, and a most entertaining account of experiences in Arizona and visits to Hopi Indian villages and the ruins of the cliff dwellers by Mrs. H. C.
Wilcox.

It was one of the pleasantest meetings the chapter has held this year.

METHODIST WOMEN HONOR MEMORY OF EARLY MISSIONARY

The Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the First Methodist church observed Founders' Day Thursday. A 4-act play depicted very faithfully the organization of the woman's society over 50 years ago. The ladies wore the costumes of that period. Several men added to the interest by doubling the ability of the women to carry on missionary work in foreign countries.
Birthday cake and tea were served.
Over 700 women missionaries in foreign countries are now supported by the women of the Methodist churches and orphanages, hospitals and schools are built in many lands. The officers of the local auxiliary are Mrs. Collins, president; Mrs. Helen Scripps, secretary; Mrs. C. F. Godfrey, treasurer.

College Women to Hold Club Meeting

A meeting of the Board of Directors of the Glendale College Women's Club will be held at the home of the president, Mrs. A. L.
Ferguson, 525 North Jackson street,
Saturday, May 5, at 3 o'clock.
Arrangements will then be made for the election of officers at the coming meeting.
The club will be entertained Saturday, May 12, with a party given in the attractive garden of Mrs.
Charles A. Barker, at 1415 South Glendale avenue, under the personal direction of Mrs. Evelyn Labadie, director of the Emerson School of Self Expression, and also a member of the club. A fine program is promised.

MOLZ ELECTED WOODMEN'S CLERK

Henry Molz was elected clerk of the camp at the meeting of Modern Woodmen Lodge which was held last night at the American Legion hall. Neighbor Johnson was elected as escort. Fifteen members of the order attended.

Preparations for the May festival and bazaar to be given by the Thursday Afternoon Club on May 18 at the Ceritos avenue school occupied the greater portion of the meeting of the members of that organization held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E.
V. Bacon. Mrs. Wm. C. Mabry
was in charge of the business session.

Minutes were read of the last regular meeting and also of the meeting of the board of directors, which preceded yesterday's session. It was announced that as Miss Eva Daniels was leaving next week to spend the summer in Boston that Mrs. A. H. Main had been appointed secretary to fill the unexpired portion of her term.
Mrs. Mabry reported on having attended the presidents' council held recently at Santa Monica.
She told of many of the clubs in the district having slogans and suggested that members bring in ideas for slogans for the Thursday Afternoon Club at the next meeting. She also brought before the attention of the members the matter of establishing the new headquarters for the national federation of women's clubs at Washington, D. C. Each of the clubs has been asked to pay an assessment of ten cents per member for the headquarters. It was voted that this amount would be paid out of the Thursday Afternoon Club dues, instead of levying a special assessment.

Announcement was made of the next meeting of the Glendale Aus-iliary of the Children's Hospital Society, to be held Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Pendroy's.
The charity circus to be given in Los Angeles tomorrow and continuing for ten days for the benefit of the hospital was also brought to the attention of the members.

At the meeting of the board of directors it was decided to postpone the reciprocity day until some time in the fall.

In connection with the May festival and bazaar Mrs. Bacon stated that the program would be furnished by the school children and would be in charge of Mrs. Curtis and Miss Mae Cornwell. The children will also have the pet show, bazaar, ball game and kite contest. It is hoped that the club will make $500, according to Mrs. Bacon.

The remainder of the afternoon was spent in sewing on fancy work articles for the bazaar. Refreshments were served by the hostesses, including Mrs. Bacon, Mrs.
F. L. Doggett, Mrs. Whitney, Mrs.
Ashton and Mrs. Goodrich.

The members will meet for a short session on May 17 at the home of Mrs. A. L. Bancroft, after which they will adjourn to the school grounds to work on the booths for the May day festival and bazaar.

FAREWELL RECITAL TO BE GIVEN BY MISS LINKOGEL

A farewell recital is being given May 24 in the auditorium of the Tuesday Afternoon club by Miss Hazel Linkogel, who is leaving for Chicago June 10, to take special work at the Conservatory of Music of that city.

It is expected to prove a grand rally of all the friends and admirers of this gifted young girl and a very fine program is being planned.
Charles Wakefield Cadman, the composer, who will be accompanied by Miss Margaret Messer Morris, interpreter of his songs, will contribute; the high school orchestra will play; the mixed quartet of the Junior Auxiliary of the Glendale
Music club composed of Misses Winifred Parker and Gertrude Heideman and Messrs. Claude Whitfield and "Bub" Carver, will sing.

Henry Grace, a talented high school boy, will be the piano accompanist for Miss Linkogel's solo numbers.

USONA MALE QUARTET AT CENTRAL CHRISTIAN CHURCH TONIGHT

Glendale music lovers will have an opportunity to hear the celebrated Usona Male Quartet at Central Christian church, corner of Colorado and Louise, at 8 o'clock tonight.

Assisting artists will be Vern
Isom, violinist, and F. Stillwell
Moore, pianist. The Usona Male Quartet is rapidly becoming a favorite musical organization in Southern California and a splendid special program has been arranged for this occasion. Everyone is cordially invited. There will be no admission charged.

LOCAL AUXILIARY TO MEET MONDAY

Mrs. E. J. Morgan announces that the regular meeting of the Glendale auxiliary of the Children's Hospital society will be held Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Pendroy's, corner of Harvard street and Brand boulevard.

Ralph Dodsworth, Jack Wagon and Dean Williams, employees of various departments of the city of Glendale, returned Tuesday night
from a fishing trip to Big Bear, bringing back the limit of trout.

Our treatments are the same as used by the famous Battle Creek Sanitarium of Battle Creek, Michigan, and consist of diet, exercise, massage, electric light baths, salt glows, hot applications, hot and cold sprays, galvanic and sinusoidal electricity. The laboratories are equipped with fine X-ray machines with the latest stereoscopic improvements.

The efficient methods of treating the sick, combined with a scientific knowledge of the preparations and combinations of foods used in a vegetarian, or so-called non-flesh dietary, gives the patient a well-balanced course of treatment.

MONTROSE LINE TO HAVE BIG CARS SOON

P. L. Hatch Announces Traffic Increases 20 Per Cent in Six Months

Owing to the rapid growth of the foothill district, beginning with Rossmore, and extending through the Verdugo Woodlands, Sparr Heights, Montrose, La Crescenta, and into Honolulu Acres, the Glendale-Montrose company is considering the addition of larger cars to the Montrose line. P. L. Hatch, manager of the railway company, announced today.

"The development in these sections has been nothing short of marvelous," Mr. Hatch stated. "I would estimate that the increase in the number of passengers carried on our lines is not less than 20 per cent in the past six months."

"This development and growth is going to continue, too," he declared. "It is because of the great increase in passengers that at the present time we are pressed to the limit of our accommodations. We have been contemplating the addition of the larger cars, in connection with the new service of the through trip to Los Angeles, and will also add them to the Montrose line."

"This addition of service will not mean an increase in the present rates of fare on our lines. On the other hand, it will mean a lowering of the fare to Los Angeles, due to the through trip plan."

H. G. CHAFFEE CO. DECLARES DIVIDEND

At a special meeting of the board of directors of the H. G. Chaffee company, a dividend of six per cent was declared on the common stock, payable May 8, on stock of record May 5.

Because of the large surplus that has been built up a 50 percent dividend was declared, payable in common stock, on May 21 to the common stockholders of record as of May 10.

This action reflects the healthy condition of the company and indicates that the service being rendered the public is meeting with approval.

F. E. Chaffee, vice-president and general manager of the company, stated that the action of the directors in distributing profits by stock dividend rather than cash dividend, was because there had been so many demands for Chaffee stores in Southern California that it was deemed to the best interests of the stockholders to re-invest the profits in additional stores.

The company's sales indicate a growth of practically all Southern California communities, and it is essential that Southern California industries keep pace with their development.

BOXING BILL FAILS

[By Associated Press] SACRAMENTO, May 3.—A constitutional amendment proposing to permit ten-round boxing bouts in California failed of passage today in the senate. The vote was 21 for and 18 against. A two-thirds majority is required. Senator Murphy, San Francisco, gave notice he would move tomorrow for reconsideration of the vote.

When you hear a man always prating about honesty, set him down as a deadbeat.

TUJUNGA MEN OF LEGION TO MEET

Adaptation of Chauve Souris to Be Given in Program

On Monday evening, the 21st of the present month of May, the American Legion boys of Tujunga and Sunland in the green Verdugo hills are to give a most unique and striking dramatic entertainment.

The participants in the program are to be no less than the entire cast of the Mission Play, including Monroe Salisbury and Mrs. Tyrone Power. The whole affair is under the patronage of Mrs. John Steven McCarty, wife of the author of the Mission Play, who gives these entertainments for some charitable purpose each year at Tujunga. This year the proceeds are to go to the American Legion post to enable the post to pay off the debt on its home.

The program is to be an adaptation of the Russian Chauve Souris as performed in London a year and a half ago. There will be the sextette from the opera Lucia in the chorus in costume, the march of the Wooden Soldiers, Gypsy singing and dancing scenes and two of the greatest of the Chauve Souris sketches. In addition to that there will be a half an hour of negro minstrelsy and a galaxy of singers, dancers and musicians representing Jenny Lind, Calvé, Carmenella and many other old-time celebrities.

The bill will be staged in the famous Garden of the Moon at Tujunga and will begin promptly at 8 o'clock on the evening of the 21st. Seats can be secured by telephone at "Alhambra 198" or "Sunland 29."

DO YOU KNOW?

That the increase in the United States debt was $265,000,000 during October. On Oct. 31, the gross public debt stood at $23,077,000,000, as compared with $22,812,000,000 on Sept. 30. The amount was $23,459,000,000 on Oct. 31, 1921.

That there is now no prohibition by the postoffice department on sending mail written or printed in Hebrew characters, the former orders prohibiting letters so written or printed having been rescinded. That 76,000 persons died from accidents during 1920, accidents which, according to the eleventh annual safety congress, could have been prevented. The largest percentage seems to have been due to falling. Other causes in order of importance were railroad accidents, drowning, death from gas, fire, firearms, mine accidents, machinery, street cars, other vehicles, and fires. Twice as many men as women were killed. One-third of all automobile fatalities were children under 15 years of age.

MISSOURIANS CALLED

At the next monthly meeting of the Missouri Society of Los Angeles County to be held Tuesday night, May 8, at the hall of the Disabled War Veterans, 246 South Hill street, Los Angeles, there will be an elaborate program presented. President Dr. Elwin Witt Ames extends a welcome to all former residents and their friends to attend.

A little girl had been taken to church by her Aunt Helen. On returning home her mother began to cross-examine her as to what she had heard.

"What hymn did you have, dear?" she asked. The little girl's memory failing her for the moment, she turned inquiringly to her aunt who whispered in her ear: "Sun of My Soul, my dear."

"Well, what was it?" her mother asked, a trifle impatiently. "Sun of Aunt Helen's Soul," was the reply.

You can stop a stream by damming it, but you can't stop an automobile that way.

OREGON FOLKS REUNION

All who ever lived in the Beaver State are called to meet under the auspices of the Oregon State Society for a great picnic reunion, all day Saturday, May 12, in Sycamore Grove Park, Los Angeles. Come as early as you can and spend the day with friends.

County registers and headquarters will be opened, so you can find the old neighbors even with thousands present.

There will be a brief program opening about 2 o'clock, songs, short talks. Mr. Frank E. Hamilton, president, will have charge of the day. The main purpose will be to have a good time and to let the people do the talking.

Tourists and visitors from the old home state are all invited. Bring your baskets well filled. Coffee will be served free to all who buy the silk souvenir badges.

Each one who learns of this is asked to pass the word along. Further information may be had of C. E. Parsons, secretary of the Federation of State Societies, office in the Continental National Bank, Main and Ninth streets, Los Angeles, phone 10261, where the great Oregon register may be seen.

JOHANNA BOELYN IS

WORLD'S RECORD COW

Johanna Boelyn Gem Regis No. 573030 has earned the right to be called by her full name, for she has just made a world's record for 7 days' milking. She belongs to Piet Bergsma of Perndale, Wash. In a recent test she gave 726.4 lbs. of milk (a quart is about 2 lbs.), 19,569 lbs. fat and 24.49 lbs. of 80 per cent butter. That is more than 26 lbs. of milk above the record of the former champion, a New York cow. It is interesting to note in this connection that Johanna stands only sixth among Washington cows in point of butter fat production. Her record was started 63 days after calving. Throughout the seven days of the test, production was very even, 106.2 lbs. being the record of the high day. Her year's record will be worth watching.

A young officer, home on leave, had been entertained by his friends, not wisely, but too well. When he arrived home he was anxious to save his mother—who had always thought he was a teetotaler—from seeing him in his present condition, so he tried to find a place where he could hide without fear of being discovered until the morning.

Finally he curled himself into a ball in a hip-bath and somehow managed skillfully to balance another hip-bath on the top.

Later, however, his mother, not having heard her son return home, proceeded to investigate, and at last came upon the two hip-baths.

"Are you there, dear?" she gasped in astonishment.

"Sh-sh!" said a voice in an undertone as a face peeped through from between the two baths. "Not a word! I'm an oyster."

At the little church the minister, a colored man, announced that he regretted to state that a certain brother had retired to rest the night before without locking the door of his chicken house, and on rising in the morning had found that all his chickens had disappeared.

"I don't want to be personal," he added, "but I had my suspicions as to who stole them chickens. I shall be glad if the man who took them will not put any money in the box when it is passed round, and then I shall know if those suspicions are right or not."

"Now, brethren," announced the minister, "I don't want your dinners spoiled by wonderin' where dat brudder lives who don't lock his chickens up at night. Dat brudder don't exist, mah friends; he was a parable for the purposes of finance."

NEWS OF EAGLE ROCKPAGEANT COSTUME SPECIAL PROGRAM 'MEETINGS OF THE
ARE ELABORATE PLANNED FOR PEOPLE' TO BE CREATIONS SUNDAY ADJOURNEDSixty Central School Children to Make Splendid Appearance

EAGLE ROCK, May 4.—At the Wednesday meeting of the Central P.T. A., the most enjoyable feature was the display of the pageant costumes which have been made by the parents of the children participating in the Hans Christian Andersen celebration at Elysian park Saturday. These are made of silk crepe paper, and they represent great artistic ability on the part of many mothers. The Los Angeles newspapers have made special arrangements with the Central school faculty to dismiss their pupils for a photograph which will be taken by the news camera men for use in the Sunday supplement. There is some honor connected with appearance in this pageant of all the Los Angeles schools, and as this is the first celebration which the local schools have been asked to participate in since the vote for annexation was taken, all who have had any part in the preparations have done their utmost to make the part of the local children one of the most beautiful events of the day. Resulting from the large part that proper costume will play in the outdoor productions, the multi-hued paper costumes constructed by the mothers of the children cast in the Central school pageant, "The End of the Rainbow," written by Mrs. Anne Harrison, president of the Central P.T. A.

The children themselves are veritable fairies in the elaborate fairy costumes. Little Winifred Wilhelm, Queen of the May, wears a magnificent costume with an intricate train sixteen feet long. She is crowned with sweet peas. "April" will be dressed in green leaves, and "May" will be gowned in blossom pink, flowers garlanded. There are also the rainbow girls, about sixteen of them, in all the rainbow colors, the raindrops in neutral shades, and the pot of gold from which will leap the little sun fairy in golden yellow to do an intricate dance. A number of excellent folk and aesthetic dances have been taught the children by Miss Evelyn Thomas, talented pupil of the Wallace School of Dramatics, who is directing the production.

All those who cannot attend the 11-day affair at Elysian park, but are desirous of seeing the children in their costumes, will be given an opportunity to do so at Central school, where all will be in display at 12:30. The Eagle rock pageant goes on at Elysian park at 2:30. A special parade on the park grounds will take place preceding the pageant.

The Central P.T. A. is desirous of listing a number of automobile owners who will volunteer to furnish transportation for some of the children in the play on Saturday.

All those who can assist in this way are asked to call Garvanza 1, and make arrangements to pick up their load of children at the Central school. The ladies will greatly appreciate this help from those who can spare the time, as their most serious problem is the transportation of their large cast of sixty.

About 1000 appear in all the events of the day.

A special stage has been constructed at Elysian park, which is big enough to accommodate amply all the children appearing in the local pantomime and the large numbers in other events which will be put on by the pupils of Los Angeles schools. The audience will view the events in the natural amphitheater from the hillside. It will be one of the "events" and "sights" of Southern California something for residents of the state as well as the tourists to "rave" over.

LATEST MOTIF IN LADIES' SHOES TO BE SHOWN THURSDAY

Another need of the city of Glendale, to be supplied Saturday, when the specialty shop in ladies foot wear, under the firm name of McClellan & Long opens its doors to the public at 116A South Grand boulevard.

J. E. McClellan, the senior member of the firm, is a recent arrival in Glendale from Iowa. He was formerly with the Stevens Shoe Company of Moline, Ill., and has been making his home in Glendale for the past two months.

Although the McClellan & Long store will be open for business Saturday, the formal opening is to be held next Thursday, when a number of specialties will be announced. The store room will present an inviting appearance, the fixtures being of a soft grey, and the window display will be arranged with a combination of grey and blue fixtures.

Professionals to Appear on Evening Program
at Congregational Church

Sunday evening a special program of inspirational dramatic readings, and vocal and instrumental music will be given at the Congregational church. All the participants are outside talent. Several professional musicians of Los Angeles will take part, and every number promises to be excellent. Rev. Isaac urges all who can to attend.

MRS. JOHN REITER ELECTED CENTRAL
P. T. A. PRES.

EAGLE ROCK, May 4.—New officers that have been elected to head the Central P.T. A. during the coming year are: Mrs. John Reiter, president; Mrs. G. Arbogast, first vice-president; Mrs. Anne Harrison, second vice-president; Mrs. Elbert Bailey, third vice-president; Mrs. M. L. Hutchins, secretary; and Mrs. Alice Quarterman, treasurer.

Mrs. John Reiter was unanimously chosen president because of her general popularity, her wide acquaintance, executive ability and interest in the children and the civic life of the community.

Mrs. Anne Harrison, president of this term, owing to her increased duties at home, and the time taken up by her writing, signified her intention to take no part in next year's leadership, but at Mrs. Reiter's request she accepted the second vice-presidency. The other officers are all well-equipped for their work, having taken an active part in the P.T. A. activities for some time, so that they are familiar with the duties and problems that will be involved in next year's campaign.

ST. MARK'S GUILD HAS MEETING AND LUNCHEON

Reports of committee chairmen and officers was the regular item of business taken up at the regular meeting of St. Mark's Guild held yesterday afternoon at the Episcopal church with Mrs. A. A. Bassett in charge. The regular luncheon was served at noon.

CONGREGATIONAL LADIES' AID HOLDS MEETING

Yesterday the Ladies' Aid of the Congregational Church met at the home of Mrs. Alice Winters on Highland avenue, Eagle Rock, for an enjoyable luncheon and all day session of sewing.

Mrs. M. F. Lerchin, 158 North Highland avenue, Eagle Rock, has been extremely ill with a severe attack of tonsillitis. She is much better and will soon be taking her usual part in local affairs.

Article No. 30 Game and Rubber Values

In the article on justifiable penalties it was pointed out that the only time in which a penalty is justifiably incurred is to save game; that it never is justifiable to incur a penalty when game is in no danger. The next point to consider is the amount of penalty that may justifiably be incurred to save a game or rubber.

In deciding such a question it is necessary to consider three situations: first, when neither side has won a game; second, when one side has won a game; and, third, when both sides have won a game. It should be evident that the size of the penalty that may justifiably be incurred will vary in these three situations. In order to determine the justifiable penalty it is necessary to approximate the point value of a game and a rubber.

The average value of a rubber has been determined by analysis of thousands of rubbers to be very close to 400 points; and a game, being just one-half a rubber, is valued at 200 points. It also is a mathematical fact that if one pair wins four of five games, the chances of winning the rubber are just three to one. The basis, therefore, of calculating what is or is not a justifiable penalty is as follows: that the value of a rubber is 400 points; that the value of a game is 200 points; and that the side winning the first game has three times as good a chance to win the rubber as their opponents. With such a basis of calculation the following represent the measure of justifiable penalties:

First, when neither side has won a game—If sure of losing game, a penalty of 200 points may be risked, but no more. If sure of winning game, don't double opponents unless sure of winning at least a penalty of 300 points.

Second, when one side only has won a game—The partners who have won a game should not risk more than a penalty of 100 points to save game. If

Four More Lectures to Be Given by Rev. Isaac
During May

This is the last month of the People's meetings at the Congregational church. These meetings conducted each Wednesday evening by Rev. Isaac along metaphysical and psychological lines have met with the popular favor of the people. Adhering to no set creed, the lectures given by Rev. Isaac at these gatherings have answered a long-felt need of the people for broader teaching, and have been of great interest to all. Many have dealt with travel and sociological conditions in other countries, while some have been on the problems of interest in our own country. All conventional preliminaries have been done away with and a large crowd has made a regular attendance each Wednesday, including the tired business man who is not in favor of long evening meetings. There will be four more of these psychometric meetings this month, then they will be adjourned until next fall.

MAY DANCE FUND HELPS FAMILY ON
'RAINY DAY'

EAGLE ROCK, May 4.—Shortly after the receipts of the American Legion Auxiliary candy sale had all been counted, and plans for the expenditure of the fund were being discussed, information reached the ladies of the auxiliary that made a distinct change in all their arrangements. The money, which was originally raised for defraying expenses of the May dance Saturday night in the Woman's Clubhouse, went for a far worthier and more satisfying purpose. It helped a family on Glassell avenue that is greatly in need of aid to keep things going until the father, an ex-service man, who was disabled during the world war, could recover from a severe attack of pneumonia and return to his work.

Stricken suddenly the father lay ill unable to defend his little family when the agents came and removed the gas range from the home because the monthly payments had not been met. The children, four of them, the oldest not yet four, and the youngest just nineteen days, were hungry. There was nothing in the house for them to eat, and no money left in the family bank for the "rainy day." At once, upon hearing the sad plight of the little family, the Auxiliary supplied a stock of groceries, delivered a range to the house and had it connected, arranged with a dairyman to supply milk for the children until the father is able to work again, and left the family provided with the necessities of life, happy and appreciative.

Other arrangements will be made for meeting the expenses of the dance, and the persons who contributed toward the candy sale receipts may feel satisfied to learn of this expenditure of their money.

Glendale Turns Out to See Free Show of Community Players

Residents of Glendale turned out en masse last night to witness the public performance of the Fun Revue put on at the high school auditorium by the Community Service Players, under the direction of Mrs. Nanno Woods. Many hundreds were turned away on account of the limited space. As it was the entire auditorium was crowded, with many standing there and in the halls during the entire performance.

The audience was a most responsive one and expressed their enthusiastic appreciation of the work being done by this group. There were a large number of visitors from the Los Angeles, Pasadena and Hollywood, and including the president of the Hollywood Women's Club and casting directors from Hollywood.

The next play to be produced by the Community Service Players will be "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," with Mrs. Fannie Stockbridge in the leading role. The cast will be selected at the meeting of the Players next Monday night and rehearsals will be started immediately. The play will be produced some time in June under the auspices of the Exchange Club.

CONSUMERS' TEST NEARS END OF CAMPAIGN

The Contest Editor Finds Many Close Rivals for Big Prizes

Testifying to the popularity of the Consumers' Contest, which is becoming a battle ground for the strenuous efforts of each contestant as the end draws near, labels became so numerous at the office of the Glendale Press yesterday that the contest editor was not able to complete the count of votes until late today. The total number of labels turned in at the Press office yesterday numbered into the thousands.

Here is how the score looks: Raymond Hall, it will be noticed, went over the million mark this week, and is still in the lead. Dana Van Loon was nosed out of second place by three contestants, Mary Kirby, Ruth Stein, and Robert Trowbridge, Jr., Mary Kirby, having succeeded in holding second place by a small margin. Ruth Stein took third.

Never before in the contest were so many labels handed to the Contest Editor. It is expected that next week will see further important changes in the standing of contestants.

The Contest Editor wishes to apologize to Douglas Dutton but it was impossible to get this counted before dead line was

The Once Over

BY H. I. PHILLIPS

SPRING RULES FOR NEWSPAPER EDITORS
(Effective at once and until the World Series)

1.—From now until further notice Babe Ruth shall be considered as a bigger man than Bonar Law, Mussolini, Mustapha Kemal, Lloyd George, Henry Cabot Lodge or Harry Daugherty.

2.—Jimmy O'Connell is hereby given precedence over the Ruhr valley, the Mesopotamia oil fields, the Chester grants, and all Russian executions.

3.—William Kamm is of greater importance than Japan's new naval policy, the ex-kaiser's fights with his second wife, President Harding's public utterances, or anything that possibly could happen in the Dardanelles, Mexico, India, Ireland, or Germany. Editors will please bear this in mind and avoid argument.

4.—It shall be considered as of wider interest from now on, should Frankie Frisch be thrown out stealing second, than should Charles Evans Hughes be thrown out of the Willard Hotel, Washington, for annoying the manicure girls. This rule goes regardless of how far Mr. Hughes should happen to be thrown or whether anybody throws him back again.

5.—News that Rogers Hornsby had sprained his ankle sliding to third is hereby declared to be bigger news than would an announcement that Nicholas Murray Butler had eloped with a chorus girl to Soviet Russia.

6.—An item stating that Miller Huggins has the influenza must for the next few months be accepted as interesting more readers than a statement that Calvin Coolidge or Clifford Pinchot has been arrested for Marathon dancing.

7.—Kindly bear in mind that it is of more general interest that Ty Cobb has dropped a pop fly in the ninth inning with the score tied than that seven British labor leaders, a soap-box orator, and two bums have just sat down to eat with King George of England. If Cobb drops two pop flies it is of greater importance than a cablegram announcing that the labor leaders have just eaten the king.

8.—Kill all future items about King Tutankhamen, except in such cases as they may record his joining the Philadelphia Athletics' infield.

9.—John McGraw is a greater man than King Tut. And not only that, but he's older.

10.—Speaking of King Tut, make no further mention of him in the paper on days of scheduled baseball games, except in the case of a report that he has been signed to manage the Yankees.

11.—Editors are warned to be very calm about any cables that the Prince of Wales has fallen off his horse. If one of the Meusel boys falls off the wagon it is of greater importance than if the Prince fell off eight horses while riding them abreast. The horses would have to fall off the Prince of Wales to make the news anywhere near as important.

12.—From now until after the world series pay no attention to items about Mr. and Mrs. Lascelles and the Lascelles baby on days when anything is coming over the wires about Mr. and Mrs. Heinie Groh, Mr. and Mrs. Waite Hoyt, or the Ruth heir.

13.—The Lascelles baby has been great stuff for the newspapers the past winter, but we can conceive of nothing that will entitle it to precedence over a box score from now on unless it should cut its throat while shaving, strangle its grandmother, or bite a leg off his royal highness. Even in such an emergency the matter should be left to the business office to decide.

14.—On all occasions when any items come in concerning Queen Mary of Roumania, King Alfonso, the boy regent of Japan, Mrs. Asquith, the Tacna-Arica dispute, Mr. and Mrs. Max Oser, or California immigration policy, or Laddie Boy's distemper at the same time with an item announcing that Jack Bentley has just given five men on bases, throw everything away but the Bentley stuff.

15.—Daily bulletins on the condition of Lenin are hereby postponed to make way for those on the condition of "Deacon" Scott.

16.—If Lenin gets any worse, it's unimportant. If Scott gets any worse it's a national calamity. If the Boston Red Sox get any worse it's a miracle.

SUMMER DRESS FABRICS

Telling how to be cool in summer weather by choosing the right fabrics, and what will be stylish for hot weather wear, Miss Edna Irene Avery of Tacoma spoke over the radio broadcaster of the State College of Washington recently, in part as follows:

"First of all come the gingham of our youth. These, in baby checks, two-tone blocks or varied colored plaids, with organdie collars and cuffs make summer dresses that outlive Solomon's rival, the lily. If you try a sample for fastness to washing, and find that the colors do not run, you will be repaid many times over for your investment, for no fabric launders so well or looks so crisp and clean as a gingham, the colors of which are clear after tubbing. This material is unsurpassed for the new apron."

"The most popular member of the new sponge cloth family is the 'pongy,' suitable for sports wear because possessing a bit of weight and roughness. It comes in delicate colors, like orchid, with a mixture of artificial silk which adds greatly to its beauty. For society and afternoon wear or informal evening dresses, it should have a touch of handwork. In fact all the summer dresses, whether made at home or not, should show some little hand sewing on them, if only an applique of gingham or chambray on a pocket or a fashionable monogram on a blouse.

"Do not buy cretonnes or paisleys or damasks this year. The so-called 'porcher' or 'apron dress' we find made of linen in bright or delicate colors, with self collar and a touch of drawn work. The linen is coarse, and it is a simple matter to draw threads which are replaced by floss in contrasting colors, giving the much desired hand touch."

For the first time in her life a young woman was travelling on a train. When the train pulled up at a station, en route, she heard the conductor call: "All change here." She rushed to the door and said to the brakeman: "Would you mind giving me my brown gown out of my trunk in the baggage car?"

REED FURNITURE SALE CONTINUES

Lounging chairs, arm chairs, fern stands, floor lamps, and many other creations in reed furniture will be available at the housewife's own price for the last time tomorrow, stated C. E. Lambert, owner of the Lambert Reed Shop, 223

South Brand boulevard.

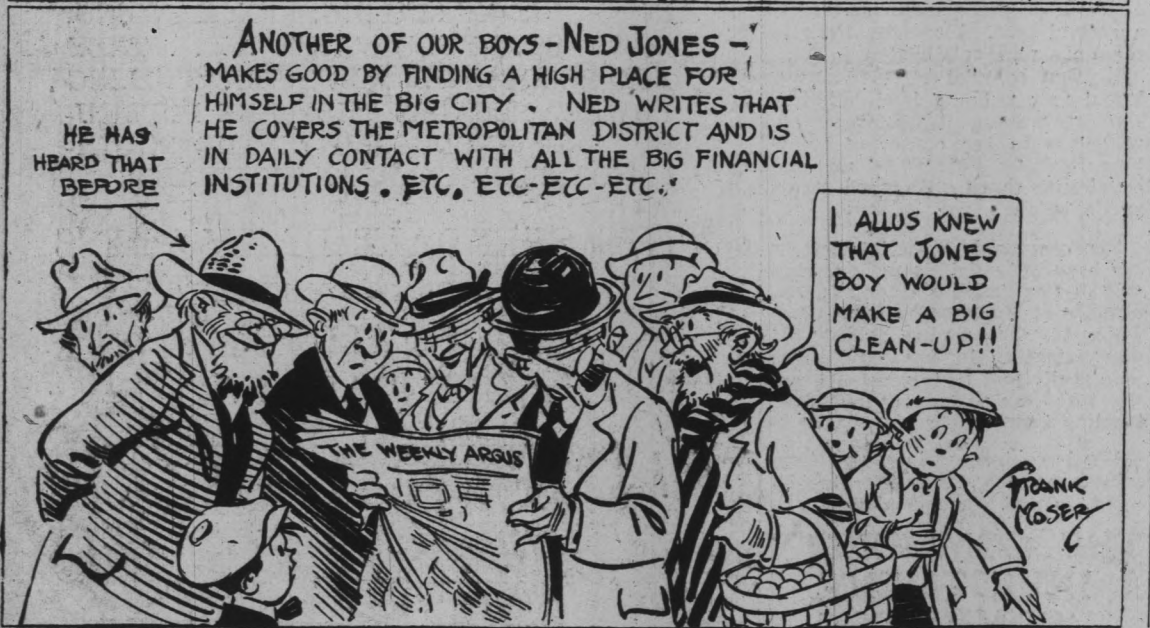

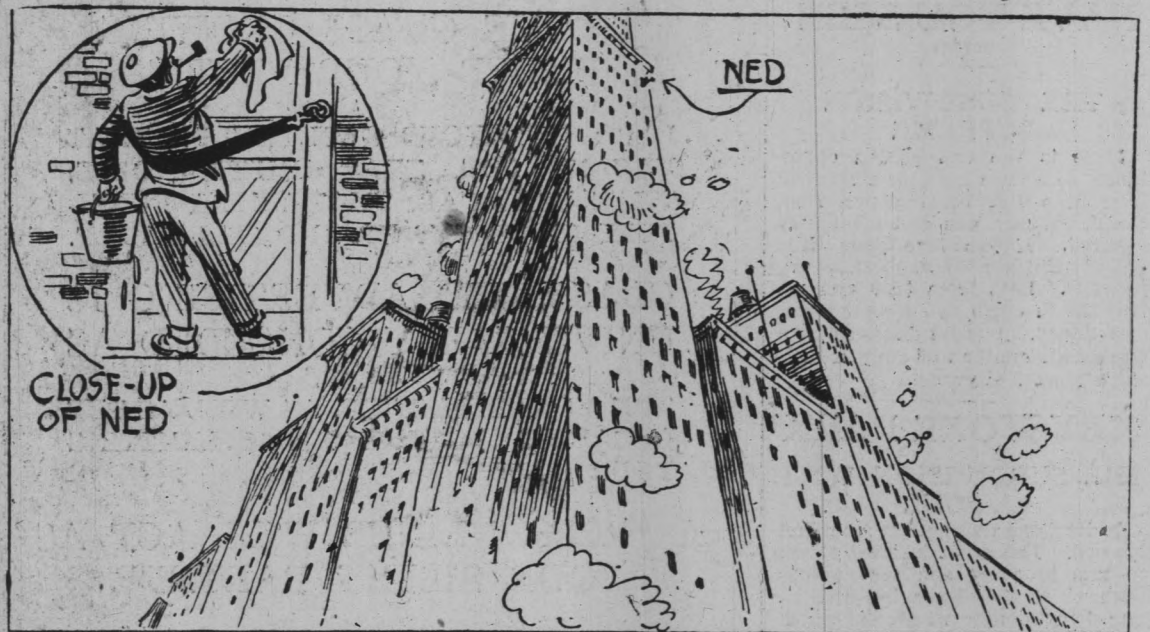

Mr. Lambert reports that sales yesterday at his store were tremendous, and he is anticipating a wide response to the offers which will be made tomorrow. The line of reed furnishings carried at the Lambert shop is a most complete one, presenting an inviting appearance, with suggestions of the summer time which is rapidly approaching.

WEDLOCKED

Two business men, although not ordinarily enemies, were not too well disposed to one another. Meeting on a train, one remarked to the other: "I met a friend of yours the other day and took the opportunity of putting in a good word for you."

"That was very kind of you," his companion replied. "What did he say?"

"Oh, I told him you were one of the keenest men I knew, that you had opened several new branches, all of which were making money, and that you had settled large dowries upon your wife and daughters."

"That was really kind of you," replied his companion again: "and by the way, who was it you were speaking to?"

"Mr. Moss," was the answer. "Mr. Moss, who is he?"

"Don't you know?" came the reply. "He's the income tax assessor."

One hates an author that is all author, fellows in foolscap uniform, turned up with ink. —Byron.

CONCERNING ENTANGLEMENTS

President Harding favors the institution of an international court. In opposition to this plan there comes a frenzied outcry. Something quite familiar about that outcry, too. It comes from the same source that in the war sided with Germany and against the United States; the same source from which emanates still the veiled declaration that in that struggle the United States was wrong, Germany right, and Americans drawn in only because warned by England of a danger that did not exist. There is no basis of truth in this protest, no savor of honesty or patriotism. It breathes the spirit out of which spring overt acts of treason. It has—save that this is a time of peace—all the color of treason. It is intended to mislead. It is a trap deliberately set for loyal citizens. It is the work of a masked and sinister enemy.

Says one recent editorial: "So violent were the warnings (from England) that Germany protested and officially pledged herself to respect the Monroe doctrine under all circumstances. But in spite of all protests and pledges, the warnings continued."

"When we entered the war millions of Americans were convinced that the safety and welfare of the United States in this hemisphere were at stake."

So they were; not by reason of diplomatic messages, but by the cold logic of facts. They did not realize their peril too soon. They knew that a pledge from Germany would have amounted precisely to nothing. They already had begun to feel the clutch of tyranny that they knew to be inspired by the desire to overwhelm them. Had they waited the fight would have been on their own shores. So much for that.

Then the editorial adds: "For the copperheads of 1863 there was one excuse. They at least went with their own flesh and blood. For those who today side with the European powers, to the undoing of their own flesh and blood, there is no such excuse."

One would go far to find a more repellent example of malignant stupidity. It is a measureless insult to millions of Americans. It is an affront to the intelligence of the whole people. It misrepresents utterly the purpose or the effect of an international court. It but echoes the hatred that in war days formulated pro-German editorials, giving aid and comfort to the arch foes of civilization.

President Harding, it may be assumed, does not desire entanglements. He does not propose the relinquishing of sovereignty, or its weakening in any degree. It may be assumed also, that he has given to the subject even a more thoughtful consideration than bestowed by the pro-German editor, one at least of whose European war correspondents was also on the payroll of the German high command.

The entanglement to be feared is only such as might grow out of war alone. The object of an international court would be to avert war. Consciously or unconsciously, the opponents of such a tribunal, are lending their efforts to promulgation of war; they are arranging for entanglements from which no geographical isolation could keep this country free.

THE JOURNALISTIC CODE

Editors of American papers recently formulated a code of ethics. In the rules laid down there was nothing new as to principle. Making the rules specific and concrete was the only innovation. They embodied the ideas that reputable newspaper owners and editors already had employed in their several fields. The gathering struck a fresh note when it laid stress upon responsibility. The prevailing opinion was that papers catering to base tastes were doing distinct harm, particularly in exciting the formation of these tastes. Such papers do even greater harm than charged. While their influence tends to vitiate morals, it also lowers the intelligence, and having accomplished this, guides the incompetent minds of its followers into wrong channels of thought. The followers of the sensational and unreliable paper do not think deeply, of course, but outside of the channel prepared by false teachers, they do not think at all. Therefore, even on questions of moment, they are swayed en masse by wicked and designing men. It is this fact that makes the unclean and untruthful paper, a real danger.

Having won an army of readers by methods wholly bad and conscienceless, these papers proceed to hold their dupes in thrall. They declare that white is black, and the readers accept the view. Ignorance, instead of being corrected by this element of the press, is persuaded to rally to the support of undesirable and unpatriotic policies. Men and women of the type easily drawn into the sensational paper's sphere of influence, necessarily are uninformed. Were this not the case, they would repudiate the bogus, the morbid and the unclean. Caught by the chaff of sensation, they are then educated to hold false opinions. In the aggregate they constitute a peril, for they will do as they are told, even to voting against the interests of their own country. They are the victims of editorial intrigue, that first fills them with misinformation, under the inspiration of which they readily become the tools of rogues.

POSSIBLY A POSEUR

"It is a little late in the day," says the lime-lighted Percy Stickney Grant of New York, "for royalty to take a hand in the affairs of labor. It was the failure of the duke of York's cousins to understand that labor has its rights that brought about the end of the Romanoffs."

As an illuminator of circumstance Grant is in the fiery class. His present concern for labor, and the paucity of his knowledge concerning it, might be fittingly represented by a double zero. The manifest fact is that the reverend gentleman is out of humor.

This remark of his was called forth by the statement of the Duchess of York that she intended to devote her life to betterment of the conditions of working people. At the same time that he sneers at such an ambition, he points out how fatal had been the lack of a similar ambition on the part of the Romanoffs. Surely if one branch of royalty elects to make a better record in England than achieved by another branch in Russia, a minister should hesitate to lift up the voice of protest.

None would defend the policy of the Romanoffs, yet it permitted the people of Russia personal freedom, some religious life; it encouraged art and letters, and more than tolerated the researches of science. In all these respects it rose superior to the present regime which has killed liberty, enslaved the people, and instituted an insanely brutal and futile oligarchy. The rights of labor had nothing to do with the change. Russia was betrayed by enemies to enemies. This happened while labor there was infinitely more prosperous than ever it has been since, or can ever be, while tyranny holds the present sway.

Dr. Grant causes a suspicion that he is a poseur. He has a lot of little rows of his own. Perhaps when he shall have settled these, he may be able to take up more capably the settlement of world affairs.

Guards are said to have shot down an airplane hovering above the penitentiary. According to report it was a plane engaged in taking moving pictures. Possibly it was believed that at the same time it might lay hold upon a little useful publicity.

Information by Opposition

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

Do you happen to know any one who belongs to that large class which "educates" itself by reading all the literature of opposition?

I know lots of them, and the odd thing is that among them all I have met no one who seemed to appreciate the absurdity of securing "information" by patronizing the people who would profit by suppressing that information.

Fancy going to the M.D.s for accurate information about Christian Science, to the Germans for a thesis on the virtues of the French. Imagine what an old fashioned Methodist or other sectarian minister would say about the value of dancing. How much could one learn of the virtues of the Methodists by reading H. D. Menckin?

And wouldn't one secure "valuable" data about two prominent men if one asked Senator Lodge to write on the virtues of Senator Wilson or the head of the National Organization of Confederate Veterans to discourse Hiram Johnson?

Who'd feel confident of an impartial history of Japan if it were compiled by the California brotherhood of land owners, and what just person would judge the British by the editorials in the Hearst papers?

Yet thousands of people everywhere get all the information they ever have by pursuing just such crab-like tactics. They read all the literature against everything they do not want to believe.

That is why progress goes sideways and on broken crutches. And why do seemingly intelligent people function this way? Because they are afraid to examine the unfamiliar with eyes honestly open. From infancy we are trained to mistrust, to be strange and unfamiliar, and this mistrust has so obsessed us that we refuse to examine anything in which we disbelieve just as if we ever could honestly believe in something which we have not examined.

There are few people who do not consider themselves fully equipped to lecture or write on any subject that has roused their antagonism, and to go to their imaginations for all the facts needed for the task.

All this is laughable, tragic and silly, but perhaps it is more tragic than laughable or silly. Because it is always tragic for the masses to be fed on the poison of misinformation.

On my desk now are half a dozen tracts, not one worth the paper on which it is written, for each and every one has been composed by a fanatic who hates his subject so much that not for the wealth of the world would he walk up and take an honest look at what he has denounced.

No wonder we progress with the speed of snails. The Lord must be very powerfully on the side of progress or we would not move at all.

OPEN AND CLOSED PUNCTUATION

(Find the error in this article.)

Mr. N. E. Keehan of Chicago writes that "The Right Word" has stated it is correct to eliminate all punctuation in the heading of a letter, and also "that it is correct to use a comma after the words: 'Dear Sir.'"

Mr. Keehan continues as follows: "I should appreciate it very much if you would give me some authority for this ruling, and why the use of commas in a heading would be considered incorrect."

"The Right Word" endorses open punctuation as follows:

Mr. Charles H. Meany
215 Pearl Street
Dallas, Texas

Dear Sir:

The following heading is an example of closed punctuation:

Mr. Charles H. Meany,
215 Pearl Street,
Dallas, Texas,

Dear Sir:

Both methods are correct, but open punctuation is rapidly becoming most popular with authorities and business houses.

Heads of English departments in the following institutions endorse open punctuation as preferable: Princeton university, Harvard university, Cornell university, University of Pennsylvania, Williams college, Syracuse university, the University of the State of New York (Regents' Department), Horace Mann school (New York), De Witt (New York), Horace Mann school (New York). The remaining half-dozen institutions, which "The Right Word" has recorded on the subject, recommend either method.

A comma should not follow "Dear Sir." "The Right Word" stated some time ago that it is customary to place a comma after a friendly salutation: as, (Dear John.)

THE LISTENING POST

By JAMES W. JOLEY

A May day! Perfect indeed. Clear skies and warm suns and a wealth of buds and blossoms and already opened flowers.

Nature at her softest and gentlest and most alluring!

March is warlike and stormy and rough.

April is fickle and uncertain.

But May is certain and soft and gentle and kind.

Some poet has asked what is so rare as a day in June.

And we might with truth answer that a day in May is just as rare or rarer.

Everywhere beauty and the promise of more beauty.

After the chill of the winter and before the heat of the summer days.

And we say that we wish it were always May.

Natural enough.

For there are times when we think it would be well if all were softness and gentleness and beauty.

But even May might pall upon us after a time.

Doubtless we would long for the showers of April.

For the leafiness and foliage of June.

For the ripening fruits and grains of August.

For the fullness and mellowness of September.

And May days always, in the south might result in softness and lack of ruggedness.

With gentleness of May through it all.

Always May!

Natural enough that we should crave always beauty and gentleness and delight.

But in the plan of life and nature, there is a necessary round of days and struggles.

And ours to welcome them and grow by them and become strong and courageous and aspiring.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

In war time the cost of living went high. There was not much grumbling. The conditions were recognized as the concomitant of military activity.

Costs are soaring again, and there is plenty of grumbling. The people asked to pay war prices believe that they are being robbed. They cite the case of sugar.

No excuse for advance in the price of sugar has been given. It seems to be arbitrary, solely the expression of greed. The habit of profiteering may be as hard to break as the habit of taking dope.

People in general do not pretend to be economists. They are not financial experts. Concerning the experience they are having, they know only that they live in the most prosperous country in the world; that they work hard and willingly; that all around them are the visible evidences of material growth; that capital is available for great investments; that dividends are large and regular. They know that producers do not get much for the staples they raise, but that the same staples, reaching the hands of the ultimate consumer, command a fancy figure. They do not know why food should be 42 per cent. higher than in 1913; clothing 74.4; housing 62.4; fuel and light 86.2 and miscellaneous commodities 100.3.

It is not a strange thing that they should be puzzled. Anybody had done the killing boasted of it. They were known to everybody in by doing so, particularly were he also to explain a method of remedy.

"Mystery of Herrin Grows," says a headline. This hardly fits the circumstances, inasmuch as there never has been a mystery.

The case, as the country first became aware of it, involved the deliberate murder of more than a score of men, who had been ambushed by striking coal miners. There was no secrecy about it. The men who capable of illuminating their understandings would confer a great favor the community. They laughed at the idea of being placed on trial. After some delay, however, the guilty were arraigned, proved guilty and speedily acquitted. No such mockery of justice ever before had been perpetrated in this country. Still there is no mystery connected with it.

Politics is the explanation. The men in office were afraid to offend the voters, and the voters to the last man and woman endorsed the murderers. This fear seemed to have extended to the highest functionaries of the state. It is sad enough, and shameful enough, but no mystery.

Ruth, the ball player, whom certain conspirators confess they had sought to victimize, says that he intends to prosecute the conspirators. Were he to take this course he would be entitled to more credit than for many home runs.

As a rule the blackmailer is permitted to escape punishment, although no living creature more richly deserves penalty.

The Bar association of Los Angeles county is said to be on the trails of a lot of unworthy members of the legal profession. In this the police probably will be glad to lend assistance. There hardly is to be found a more contemptible criminal than the lawyer who employs his calling to cover his crime.

A party of twenty-four Americans has sailed from New York for Russia. The members each carry a little capital, and intend to settle there.

The cash will be heartily welcomed, and perhaps they will have friends in this country who will send them passage money home.

Only a little while back Stefansson, the Arctic explorer, was telling of the suavity of climate and the productiveness and general delights of the region about the north pole.

It is interesting to observe that some of the men he had taken thither still remain, unaware of the suavity, and without contact with the delights. A rescue expedition is being organized. If the unfortunates ever get back they ought to take to the lecture platform, too.

Candidates are asked "last hour questions." These are designed to be too late to be answered. However, if the candidate does manage to make a reply, the opposition heckles him over his "last hour explanation."

Politics is rather a dirty trade.

Up to May first, fifty-four persons had been killed this year by automobiles in Los Angeles city alone. A city so proud of its growth in population might be supposed to resent such an array of fatalities.

In the community surrounding Los Angeles the record is not quite so startling, but it is far worse than there is excuse for, or than any community ought to tolerate.

They seem to think they have found a clue to the Remington murder, one of the recent crime mysteries, and perhaps they have. At least a woman who professes to know all about it has told her story voluntarily. She has not been under suspicion. The ground-and-lifty tumbling of the sleuths does not seem to have got them anywhere, even if the truth has come out.

Liberty is taken once more to venture the opinion that Clara Phillips has not been found. The officers going after her may possibly have an enjoyable junket.

I asked him what he thought about it in the days when all his friends said he was loony.

"Sometimes I feared they were right," said he. "But I kept plugging."

A dozen years ago or so he graduated from one of the great eastern universities. Then he graduated from law school. Then he opened a little office, hung out a shingle, and prepared to lead a conventional, unexciting and highly successful life. His family lines ensured him enough little business to live on while he was really learning his trade through hard knocks.

"Didn't you like the law?" I asked.

"Oh, yes," he said. "I liked it. But not enough."

He suddenly fastened his eyes on an entirely different profession. In order to learn the new trade he gave up his office, went back to the university for the post-graduate course, and then locked himself up in a library. He bought what books he could afford and got writer's cramp taking notes from others that he could not buy. Today he is near the top of a small group of world experts in his line.

Every one said he was crazy when he threw overboard all his prospects and settled down to crackers and water and study. The girl he might have married was persuaded away from him by her folks. They said that he was too flighty to be a successful husband. She married a nice, well-to-do, leg-ironed merchant, who has never been farther away from home than New York. He goes there only on his buying trips. She hasn't been away from home at all. After all, perhaps she is happy.

"I knew I would succeed," he said. "But it took grit. I can see that better now than I did then."

Even yet some of his old friends think he is a little touched. "He might have made a name for himself at the law," they say.

Over the shoulders and slopes of the dune
I saw the white daisies go down to the sea,
A host in the sunshine, an army in June,
The people God sends us to set our hearts free.

The bobolinks rallied them up from the dell,
The orioles whistled them out of the woods;
And all of their saying was "Earth, it is well!"
And all of their dancing was, "Life, thou art good."

PRINTERS PLAY BALL AS WELL AS HIT IT

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 4.—Ball playing printers of fourteen cities are rounding into seasonal form for the sportiest of annual baseball tournaments — sportiest because loss of one game eliminates a team. The games of the thirteenth meeting of the Union Printers' Baseball League will be played in New York City the week of August 4 to 11. Play for the Garry Herrmann perpetual trophy begins this year.

Cities represented in the league are: Cleveland, Ohio; Pittsburgh, Pa.; Indianapolis, Ind.; St. Paul, Minn.; Boston, Mass.; Washington, D. C.; Toronto, Ont., Can.; St. Louis, Mo.; Chicago, Ill.; Cincinnati, Ohio; Philadelphia, Pa.; Detroit, Mich.; Brooklyn, N. Y., and Hamilton, Ont., Can.

Arrangements have been made by the New York printers for an elaborate program of entertainment for the thousands of rooters who will follow the teams to the games. The Hotel Astor will be headquarters for the printers. Two receptions and dances have been arranged and the main dining room of the hotel has been obtained for exclusive use of the typos for breakfast and dinner each day of the tournament.

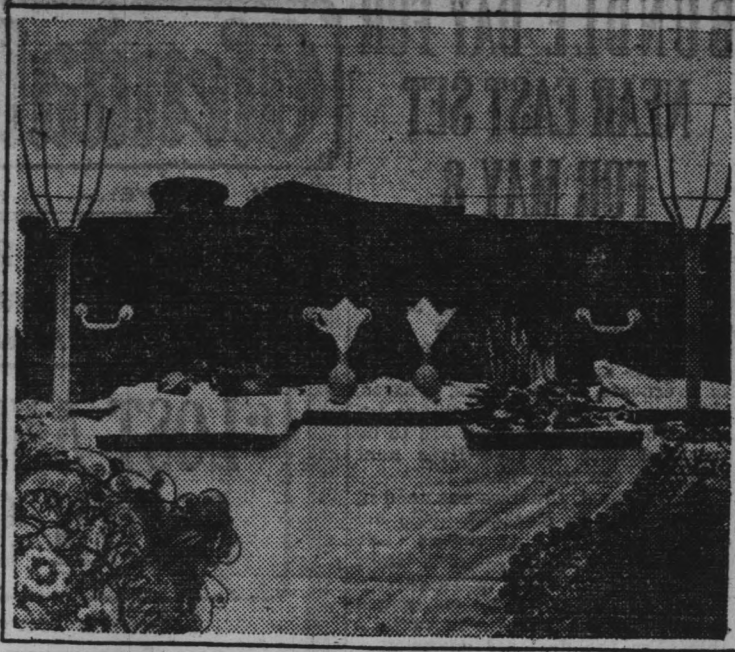

Governor Al Smith of New York will present the trophy to the winning team at a big reception marking the close of the tournament. Mayor John Hyland of New York, vice-president of the Union Printers' League, is actively assisting in arrangements for the tournament. Garry Herrmann, donor of the trophy, who is an active member of Cincinnati Typographical Union No. 3, will attend the games as will John Hyland, president of the National League, also a printer and an active member of Washington Union No. 101.

Teams of the League do not meet until the tournament, although each will engage in many amateur contests. It is simply a case of fight for life in each tournament game. Two games are played each day. Loss of one game puts a team out of the running. At the end of a fourteen-year period the League teams having the greatest number of victories to its credit will receive the trophy for keeps. Last year a trophy given by Mr. Herrmann some years ago was won finally by Boston.

The trophy is composed of two silver bats of regulation size, surmounting a group of figures—pitcher, catcher and batter—one foot and a half high, and on top of the bats is a silver ball containing an oiled tape, three inches wide, on which will be recorded the names of players on each team winning the championship for a year.

Thousands of dollars will be spent by the typographical unions to get their teams and rooters to New York. The New York union is expending $15,000 on entertainment features alone. More than

The body of Prince Kitashirakawa, killed in an auto accident in France, has been lying in state in the Japanese embassy in Paris. The funeral was largely attended by the members of the Japanese colony.

3,000 printers and their wives will journey to New York, according to reservations made at the Hotel Astor. Various passenger associations have granted a rate of fare and one-half for the round trip, good on all railroads entering New York. From several cities special trains will be run.

Cincinnati will send a special train containing at least 125 persons; St. Louis will have a special, including followers of the Indianapolis team. Toronto and Hamilton, Can., will also send a train, as will Chicago and St. Paul.

The International Typographical Union will do all the entertaining on one day of the series and guests from all over the United States and Canada will attend regardless of whether their cities have teams in the tournament. Big Six of New York, a union with a membership of 10,000, will also do the honors for a whole day. An outing at a resort on the Atlantic coast, including a clam bake and bathing will be included in the program.

The Union Printers League is the only organization of its character in the world and is strictly amateur. Leaders of organized baseball have evinced much interest in the tournaments each year for several seasons. In the first place the rivalry engendered among the big cities represented is considered good for baseball. In the second place it gives many a promising young ball player an opportunity to show "his stuff" before national critics. Mr. Herrmann has often expressed the hope that other big organizations beside the printers' union would try the tournament plan.

Scouts from the professional leagues attend the tournament games and each year a number of printers are signed up for professional engagements in the following year.

PRUNING MAPLES

"Maple trees will bleed badly if cut during the winter," says O. M. Morris, head of the horticulture department of the State College of Washington. In giving advice on tree trimming, "This bleeding will not destroy them, although it may weaken them to some extent."

"Pruning just as the leaf buds start to open will cause the minimum amount of bleeding for a winter pruning. Where large limbs are removed from shade trees the scar made should be painted over with a thick paint of white lead or similar material or a coating made of coal tar and creosote, mixed to the consistency of good paint."

"In pruning shade trees, only the longest pole-like branches that are in danger of being broken by the wind should be cut back, or those so low that they interfere with the passage on walks beneath. As to inner branches, remove only those interfering with each other or dying because of excessive shade. Large size is usually desirable in shade trees, and the minimum amount of pruning enables the trees to make a maximum growth."

COMPENSATING AMATEURS PROBLEM

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)
NEW YORK, May 4.—(United Press).—Some astonishment resulted at the last session of the International Olympic congress in Rome when the delegates from Sweden suggested that it was ready to discuss some means of compensating amateur athletes for the time they lost in competing in big meets.

The suggestion was followed with horror among some of the other delegations and in the characteristic fashion of most of the sport governing bodies in avoiding big new problems, it was decided that each nation could draw its own definition of amateurism.

The problem, being thus disposed of, will be settled only temporarily, as there is bound to be a lot of complaint if Sweden should decide that it is not improper to compensate an athlete, and her paid athletes should some time be called upon to meet representatives of other nations of contrary belief.

It seems that some equitable basis should be found upon which an amateur athlete could get some remunerative reward for the time and trouble spent in developing his talents.

It is only fair that an athlete who is called upon to leave his work for a week or more should be compensated in the sum that he would have earned if he had remained in the pursuit of his method of livelihood.

The present system of allowing the athlete only his actual expenses only encourages a little "cheating" on the side, whereas the above plan might serve to remove all temptations.

Beyond whatever glory there is in it, the young athlete gets nothing for the time that he might better spend in advancing himself in a professional or commercial business and whatever glory he does acquire is short-lived, unless he is of such exceptional ability that he can establish a record of long standing. Most of the amateur athletes cherish their status as amateurs and many times in the face of great temptations, Charley Paddock, for instance, was offered $30,000 recently to engage in a three-weeks series of races on a circuit in California. He declined.

The sprint king has received numerous other offers in the past to engage in professional work, and he might have earned $100,000 for such services if he had chosen to leave the amateur ranks.

Considering that the gate receipts for big meets run into large sums of money annually, it does not seem just that such loyalty should go totally unrewarded.

INVESTIGATE BEFORE YOU INVEST

Babson Says $500,000,000
Lost Every Year on Bad Securities

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass., May 4, 1925.—Eighty out of every hundred new concerns are doomed to fail before they start" according to a statement issued today by Roger W. Babson who has just returned from a tour of inspection. "Everywhere I go," says Mr. Babson, "people ask me to look at their lists of investments" and it is usually depressing business. I do not know why men who are keen in business, who work hard to earn and save, will turn their savings over to a comparative stranger or invest them in a stock or bond that they know little or nothing about—nor why men who mean well should be somewhat inexperienced in matters of investment insist on buying promotion stocks.

A recent investigation made by my associates shows that eighty out of every hundred concerns go through at least one re-organization. This means a loss and possibly an assessment for all stockholders. The man who buys promotion stocks—the stocks of concerns not yet established on a paying basis—therefore has equal chances out of ten to lose, but two chances out of ten to maintain his equity and less than half that to make any money. These stocks should be bought only by those who realize these facts and who can afford to lose.

"Stocks and bonds of questionable value cost the American public about $500,000,000 a year—and the bill is paid by those who can ill afford to pay it. "Get-rich-quick—take a chance—Columbus did—arguments of the typical fly-by-night stock promoter appeal to the cupid of the average man who does not stop to reason as he would if he were doing anything but investing his money. He does not seem to realize that if the proposition were such a sure-fire millionaire maker as it seems, that there would be no necessity for peddling it out in small lots to raise the necessary money to go ahead.

"I feel so keenly about this matter," continued Mr. Babson, "that I am going to risk repeating several things that have been said before. If you are making an investment—be it a hundred or several thousand sound issues sponsored by the man and the firm to whom you turn over your money. It is a good plan to deal with only the

And when shall gladness come at last, to share it;
With cheer to love and work—there lies success.

most reputable houses. When in doubt ask your banker. He will give you an unbiased report. If there is any question as to standing or record—don't do it!

"In selecting securities for safe investment, buy stocks and bonds of established businesses, preferably those which have been through years of existence and have managed to survive all sorts of business weather. If you must speculate, there are several hundred listed stocks of such concerns traded in on the stock exchanges. Buy securities of known and recognized value. When you are selecting bonds for income, you have several thousand sound issues sponsored by the reputable bond houses of the country and backed by ample security. Over a thousand of these are listed and traded in regularly.

"Do not play favorites. Diversify your list of holdings as broadly as possible. Spread your securities over many lines of industry and as many different sections of the country as possible. Then no single accident to one concern and no extreme depression in one locality can seriously affect your position. If you can't follow these three rules," concluded Mr. Babson, "I advise you to take your money to the nearest savings bank and leave it there for safe keeping."

General business continues strong in spite of the propaganda that is being spread in an attempt to depress stocks. The index of the Babsonchart shows general activity at 4 per cent above normal, an increase of 1 per cent last week.

At an English village gathering, the local hero, after much persuasion, was telling the story of how he got his wound.

"We started out from Wipers"—he began.

"Ypres," said the old lady who was giving the tea, very correctly.

"As I was saying," he continued.

"We went from Wipers"—

"Ypres," said the old lady.

"We set out, and the last time we saw Wipers"—

"Ypres," said the old lady.

He gave it up, and looked at her with pity in his eyes. Then he spoke. "Lor, mum, you ain't arf got 'iccupus!"

BUNDLE DAY FOR NEAR EAST SET FOR MAY 8

Near East Relief "Bundle Day" will be observed here and in 100 other Southern California cities next Tuesday, May 8. Donations of cast-off and worn clothing, such as overcoats, wraps, suits, dresses, shoes, underwear and stockings for men, women and children are to be gathered here to save lives next winter in the Near East.

Next to food, the greatest need of the refugees is clothing. The old clothes which fill closets and trunks are, literally, worth their weight in gold, relief workers say. Warm garments can be exchanged for anything and are far more valuable than the depleted currency.

Last winter, in the Near East Relief hospitals and orphanages, many amputations of hands and feet were made necessary owing to exposure to the bitter weather. Children, scarcely old enough to stand, came shivering to the relief station doors begging for warm garments and too often inspection showed that tiny hands and feet were frozen and had to be amputated.

"Bundle Days" are being held all over the country for the benefit of Near East Relief. The clothing is packed in bales and stored at the army warehouse in Brooklyn, N. Y., until it can be shipped to the Near East. There it is distributed, at the first sign of cold weather, to the needy refugees, who, for the most part, are clad in rags and strips of burlap and linen, anything they can find.

This year the need of additional clothing will be acute. Hundreds of thousands of refugees are huddled in concentration camps on the Bosphorus and Black Sea. They have nothing and only the Near East Relief can help them.

Local citizens are asked to do up a bundle now, putting in serviceable garments of all sizes, and send it on Tuesday, May 8, to the nearest bundle station. Churches have been asked to receive clothing.

Cash gifts may be sent to Near East Relief, 517 Wright & Callender building, Los Angeles, and they will be credited to this community.

When Paderewski made his first appearance in Boston many years ago one of the cellists in the orchestra became very much excited, and, springing to his feet, made a little speech. Shouts of "Order!" and "Sit down!" had no effect on the perpetrator of this breach of orchestral etiquette. The orating cellist was a Pole and he ended his extemporaneous speech, glowing with pride, thus: "You see there Paderewski, my countryman, a Pole (crescendo). He came, he saw, he conquered!"
